Acheson On Witness Stand In MacArthur Probe

Sharp Dispute Over Procedure Starts Hearing

Acheson To Face Heavy Barrage Of Leading Questions

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, June 1. — Senators investigating Gen. MacArthur's dismissal today were given the text of a confidential State department document on Formosa and Secretary of State Acheson urged it be withheld from publication.

Acheson's position was reported by Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., as he left the closed hearing room following a sharp dispute over procedure in connection with the document.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—A sharp dispute over procedure today delayed Secretary of State Acheson's Senate testimony on "political" aspects of Gen. MacArthur's dismissal.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., protested a demand by Sen. Knowland (R) Calif., that before questioning the secretary the armed services-foreign relations committee decide whether to make public a State department document on Formosa, dated December 23, 1949.

McMahon insisted that Acheson be permitted to make his opening statement before the question of the document was debated.

Acheson Sits Out Argument

The Connecticut senator also complained that Knowland had not given advance notice that he intended to raise the issue as Acheson took the witness stand. Knowland contended that he had done so, several days ago.

Acheson, who took the witness stand shortly after 10 a.m. (EDT), sat by calmly as the senator argued.

Knowland said that the docu-

Gable's Wife Asks Divorce

Suit For Divorce Filed Against Star

HOLLYWOOD, June 1.—(INS)—Mrs. Clark Gable, the former Lady Sylvia Ashley, went out on the high seas today seeking peace and solace following the breakup of her marraige to the highest-salaried actor in fabulous Hollywood.

The blonde beauty, who caught what was regarded as the biggest matrimonial prize in pictures a year and a half ago, left Hollywood "on the verge of a nervous breakdown". She sailed aboard the George Vanderbilt private yacht "Pioneer".

The vessel, ironically, is Honolulu-bound on a four-week fishing expedition. During her marriage to the star Mrs. Gable would have no part of Gable's cherished hunting and fishing trips.

Files Suit

The four-times married Mrs. Gable, the former Lady Ashley, filed suit for divorce yesterday in Santa Monica, Calif., charging mental cruelty without elaborating.

She boarded the "Pioneer" last night, driving up to the pier shortly after 8 o'clock and making a tearful dash up the gangplank.

She was smartly dressed in a bright orange silk blouse and tan slacks but there were deep dark circles under her eyes and her blonde hair was in disarray.

There were tears in her voice as she waved newsmen way. She implored: "No, no. I have nothing to say now."

Three Armed Men Get $30,000 Payroll

NEW YORK, June 1.—(INS)—Three armed men, possibly led by the notorious Willie "The Actor" Sutton, held up office employes of the Heating Maintenance Corp. in Brooklyn today and escaped with a $30,000 payroll just delivered by a Brinks armored car.

Police said the men wore white handkerchiefs over their faces. They tied up several of the employes, forced the others to lie down on the floor and scooped up the cash.

Detectives said they believe Sutton, one of the most wanted men in the U. S., might be responsible.

U.N. Secretary Urges Cease Fire Move In Korea

Communist China And North Korea Urged To End War

OTTAWA, June 1—(INS)—U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie today called for a cease-fire in Korea along the 38th parallel and urged Communist China and North Korea to end the war.

The top U. N. official ruled out appeasement and outlined three conditions for settling the 11-month-old Korean conflict, including the establishment of a free and unified Korean nation.

Warns Communists

At the same time he warned the Communists that failure to agree to a cease-fire will force the U. N. to call up more troops to smash the aggressors and bring on a decision by force of arms.

Speaking before the United Nations Association of Canada in Ottawa, Lie underscored his statement by saying:

"The way is open for a cease-fire if the North Koreans and their supporters will now indicate that they are ready to join with the United Nations in stopping the bloodshed."

The Norwegian diplomat, who returned recently from Europe where he canvassed opinion on a Korean settlement, declared in appealing for a halt in the fighting along the old dividing line between North and South Korea:

Time For New Effort

"I believe that the time has come for a new effort to end the fighting in Korea. The United Nations forces there—as things stand today—have repelled the aggression and thrown the aggressors back across the 38th parallel."

Lie said if a cease-fire could be arranged along the parallel, the main purpose of the security council resolutions of last summer,

Barn Is Burned Late Thursday

Loss Of $5,000 Is Sustained In Blaze

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the large barn on the farm of David A. Byler, of the Edenburg-Pulaski road, in Mahoning township, at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, with loss of around $5,000, which is covered by insurance.

When discovered the entire roof of the structure was ablaze. Mr. Byler, who was working in his corn field nearby, hurried to the barn and drove out the stock. Neighbors assisted him in removing some of the machinery.

When discovered the blaze was out of control, but Mahoning and Union townshi firemen succeeded in saving adjoining structures, although some damage was done to the milk house by debris falling on it.

Included in the loss was a quantity of grain, hay, and fertilizer as well as some farm machinery.

Neighboring farmers are assisting Mr. Byler in taking care of his stock.

U.S. Troops In New Gains In Hwachon Area

Chinese Forces May Be Planning For New Counter-Drive

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, June 1—American troops captured two commanding hills overlooking Yanggu at the east tip of North Korea's Hwachon reservoir today and pushed ahead another two and a half miles on the west side of the hydro-electric pool.

Along the west front above Seoul, however, other Allied forces bumped into stubborn resistance by Chinese troops who took up a new defense line where they deployed artillery, portending a possible counter-drive.

Grim Fighting

Grim fighting across the rain-sodden peninsula coincided with a renewed outbreak of aerial combat over northwest Korea in which at least three Soviet-made MIG-15 jets were knocked down and two others damaged Friday.

Official announcements and field reports said two American planes were lost and two others damaged in a series of whirling dogfights.

A Friday night dispatch from the west front said Communist troops had "scurried" to new positions north of Parallel 38, from which they offered tenacious opposition to United Nations spearhead patrols.

An American front line staff officer said the Reds were apparently digging in to "resist any further Allied advance to the Chorwon-Kumhwa - Pyonggang supply triangle."

'Ball Of Fire' Is Described

The brilliant flash of light in the sky Wednesday night may have been a meteorite falling.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lenhart of Slippery Rock township today gave an eye witness description of the phenomena which puzzled many people the night it fell.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenhart had been out for the evening and had just returned to their home on the road between Center church and the Slippery Rock creek.

As they started into the house they saw a brilliant streak of light and with it heard a swishing sound much like a skyrocket in its ascent.

For a moment they thought the ball of fire was going to strike their home but shortly before it was at ground level it disappeared. In size the ball of fire seemed to be about twice the size of a baseball, the Lenharts said.

It may have been a meteorite, although meteorites in Pennsylvania are rare. The last authenticated meteorite falling in the state was 40 or 50 years ago.

chairman Martin of the Federal Reserve Board and chairman Keyserling of the council of economic advisers.

The group declared that a plan should be prepared authorizing the government to fix limits on total bank loans, but they added that this should not be put into effect unless an "extraordinary" situation develops."

They insisted that the pay-as-you-go tax program, price and wage ceilings and materials allocations controls are necessary measures for curbing inflation. Credit controls, they emphasized, cannot do the job alone.

Other Developments

1. Economic Stabilizer Johnston indicated that the Wage Stabilization Board may have a new wage ceiling formula ready by next Wednesday. The board is holding closed door sessions on proposals for changes in the old formula limiting pay raises to 10 percent after January 15, 1950.

2. The Office of Price Stabilization announced that the initial 10 percent rollback in cattle prices, originally due to go into effect May 20, definitely will become applicable for all packing houses Monday.

The finance leaders drafted their report in response to a request by the President for an overall policy on credit controls.

They disclosed that the federal reserve plans to send to Congress in a few days recommendations for much heavier reserve requirements to freeze large sums which otherwise would be used for loan expansion.

ment was a confidential memo to State department officers overseas instructing them to "soft pedal" the strategic importance of Formosa and to prepare U.S. Allies for the ultimate loss of the Nationalist island to the Chinese Reds.

Faces Barrage of Questions

Republican members of the committee, who have charged that MacArthur's removal was motivated by political rather than military reasons, were prepared to hurl a steady barrage of questions at Acheson.

The urbane, 58-year-old secretary, one of the most controversial figures in the government, wore a well-tailored gray suit and a plaid necktie.

He was accompanied by Adrian Fisher, State department legal expert, and J. J. Doherty, a security officer.

Acheson posed affably for news and movie photographers before beginning his testimony.

Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., a top congressional critic of the State department, was among the senatorial observers. He is not a member of the joint committee.

Expect New Row

Acheson's appearance was expected to touch off a new row over "confidential" conversations with President Truman prior to MacArthur's removal.

In the last such battle, the committee upheld the right of Gen. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, to refuse to reveal the "private" talks.

Sen. Bridges (R) N.H., announced that Republicans — who have demanded Acheson's removal in the past—will try to force him to give details of the White House conferences which led to Gen. MacArthur's dismissal.

Bridges conceded that this would raise anew the whole issue of confidential relationships with the president, which Sen. Wiley (R) Wis., tested and lost with Gen. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Question Likely To Come Up

The other question likely to be raised immediately is the demand of Sen. Knowland (R) Calif., that the secretary make public a State department document of December 23, 1949, on Formosa. Knowland claims this was the paper advising diplomats abroad that Formosa had no strategic importance and instructing them to prepare other countries to accept its ultimate loss to the Chinese Reds.

The joint committee investigating Far East policies voted 7 to 7 against declassifying this document when Adm. Sherman, chief of naval operations, was on the stand. They agreed to settle the question after hearing Acheson's arguments against releasing it.

Some Democrats, and Sen. Morse (R) Ore., doubted that the GOP members would try again to make a high-ranking official reveal "confidential" conversations with the president. The committee voted 18 to 8 upholding Chairman Russell's ruling that Bradley need not make such disclosure.

Bridges had a list of other issues on which the Republicans want to go after Acheson. He predicted the secretary would be on the witness stand a week or ten days.

nese had moved artillery down to their new lines, "indicating they may launch mobile attacks."

He said one large enemy buildup of strength was spotted eight miles north of the parallel in the sector northwest of Uijongbu, northern gateway to the South Korean capital of Seoul.

On the central front the American advances up both sides of the strategic Hwachon reservoir were punched out against the waning resistance of Red soldiers who had fought bitterly through Thursday night, with "General Mud" on their side.

Sejzure of the two key heights northeast of Yanggu was reported in a Friday night field dispatch which said the Americans met "moderate" resistance after sunrise.

For the second successive day the Americans sent tank patrols into Yanggu, seven miles above Parallel 38, and found no Red troops in the junction town.

Battle in East-Central Area

The Communists in that east-central area were fighting to prevent American capture of a lateral east-west road five miles north of Yanggu. They sought to keep that road until they can withdraw their forces still south of the huge Hwachon reservoir.

The Eighth Army's Friday night communique said American troops attacking north in the rainsoaked central sector gained up to 4,000 yards Friday against "light" opposition.

There the Americans were striving to burst out upon the Hwachon-Chorwon-Pyonggang plateau where their tanks could operate more easily than along the narrow mountain roads where the present fighting was in progress.

East of Yanggu, the Eighth Army bulletin said, other United Nations troops continued to encounter "light to moderate" resistance in their efforts to drive beyond captured Inje.

Along the west sector, the communique related, UN forces repulsed a company-sized Red counterattack Friday southeast of Yonchon, six miles north of the 38th Parallel and 34 miles north of Seoul. To the west, American artillery "pounded" a 120-man enemy group near Korangpo.

Estimate Losses For Reds In Korea At High Figure

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(INS)—The Army estimated today that the Communists in Korea suffered 108,006 casualties during the week ended May 30. The estimate for enemy casualties the previous week was 120,000.

The grand total estimated for all enemy casualties since the start of the Korean war was placed at 1,133,140, including 682,238 battle and 138,880 non-battle casualties.

For the first time, the Army in its weekly estimates gave no breakdown between Chinese and North Korean casualties, and no exact figures on prisoners of war.

White House next week by agreeing to the compromise drawn by a house-senate conference committee.

Delayed-Action On UMT

The bill calls for a delayed-action version of UMT, but sets up a series of safeguards to keep it from being shelved:

1. The five-member commission to be named by the president must have a recommended code of conduct and death and disability provisions ready for congress in four months after members are confirmed by the senate.

2. House and senate armed services committees have only 45 days in which to make their recommendations.

3. Thereafter, any member of the house and senate may call up UMT.

Unless world conditions change very greatly by the time the implementing legislation comes up, there is virtually no chance of an upset of the program—which Russell said was first advocated by President George Washington.

The machinery could be put into operation, after the implementing legislation is passed, by an order of the president or a resolution by congress ending the induction of youths under 19.

stated. If a travelable surface is obtained after grading is complete, the section will be left unpaved in order to throw the closed route open to traffic.

The department may resort to condemnaton proceedings to obtain the necessary land for the relocated road if these steps are necessary.

Efforts to fill in the section of highway which had dropped down, proved futile and the road was abandoned at that point. It is hoped to have the new section open to traffic within the next few weeks.

Highland U.P. Buys Parsonage

Announcement is made today that members of Highland United Presbyterian congregation have purchased a brick parsonage, which is located at 408 Winter avenue, at the corner of Logan street.

Trustees of the church were authorized to buy a parsonage at the yearly congregational meeting in April. The board of trustees is composed of Attorney J. Glenn Berry, W. Anson McKee, Clyde M. Whittaker, Carl Paisley, Dr. Wilbur E. Flannery and Harry Helmick.

Rev. and Mrs. Dale K. Milligan will occupy the house in the very near future. Rev. Milligan, associate pastor of Highland church, was graduated in May from Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological seminary.

BARLETTO-AUDINO WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Barletto of 1115 Pollock avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Dolores J., to John C. Audino, son of Mrs. Ralph Audino, 520 Waldo street.

The couple was united in marriage at a quiet but impressive double ring ceremony performed on May 17 at 9 a.m. in St. Vitus church, Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon organza and Venise lace over Skinner's satin, fashioned with a mandarin neckline of lace and long sleeves of organza with a gauntlet effect cuff. The redingote-styled skirt was edged with a wide band of lace and featured a cathedral train. A veil of imported French tulle was fastened to a halo of rhinestones and seed pearls. The bridal flowers consisted of a dozen gardenias centered with an orchid and tied with maline.

Miss Marie Cubellis served as maid of honor, dressed in a yellow frock of nylon marquisette, strapless style, with a matching cape. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses with streamers of maline. Ralph Audino attended the groom as best man.

Nuptial selections befitting the occasion were played by Mrs. Frances Colao at the organ.

Breakfast was served in the Unione Calabro hall, East Division street, following the ceremony, and a dinner was held at the bride's home. An evening reception for 300 guests was held in the Union Calabro hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Audino have returned from their honeymoon and are now "at home" at 520 Waldo street.

Dr. R. F. Galbreath officiated at the double ring ceremony with Rev. Donald Thomas, uncle of the bride, assisting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper satin gown trimmed in rose point lace and a crown held the fingertip lace veil. The bride carried a while Bible and a white orchid with streamers of orange blossoms.

GETTING CLOSER

Announcement of the successful completion of a new series of atomic weapons tests has been made jointly by the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission. The guarded language of the announcement suggests that at least the preparatory steps toward development and explosion of a hydrogen bomb have been taken at the highly secret proving grounds at Eniwetok Atoll.

The annonucement refers merely to experiments "contributing" to thermonuclear weapons research. This probably means that a hydrogen bomb of practicable size has not been exploded, but that the major problems surrounding its production have been solved .

The announcement is intentionally vague, but there can be no doubt that what was accomplished at Eniwetok insures that there will be a hydrogen bomb, and a new weapon of unprecedented destructiveness, as soon as the plant for the manufacture of its basic ingredients, being built by DuPont in South Carolina, is ready.

Nowhere will the announcement be read with more thoughtful interest than in the Kremlin. The American atomic program cannot, by itself, preserve peace. It is a powerful deterrent, but it must continue to outpace all competitors and it must be reenforced by national resoluteness. America must have both weapons and the will to use them against aggressors. Determination to fight for American beliefs is itself a form of weapon.

Such determination, plus atomic development, are needed if those who seek world domination are going to be held in effective restraint.

PRICE OF PROGRESS

By a ruling of the Massachusetts Supreme Court a man whose job is abolished by industrial progress is not entitled to unemployment compensation. The victim in this case is a 74-year-old stone cutter who worked in the lithographic trade for more than 30 years but who now finds that new processes have created a condition where the services of men with his skill and training are no longer needed.

Without quarreling with the court's interpretation of the law, it is possible to suggest that there is something tragic about a decision which takes away unemployment benefits from an aged man who knows only one trade and would willingly take work at it if he could find it.

It is especially tragic in view of the millions of dollars that are handed out each year to thousands of idlers, fakers, and chiselers throughout the nation who cash checks under the fiction of being unemployed.

ANTI-RAINMAKER WANTED

The Soviet Union, which has been discovering that Russians really invented everything from the telephone ("What hath Marx wrought!") to nuclear fission, has now come out with another claim. New electronic devices for making artificial rain have been perfected in Russia, the news agency Tass announces.

If this is true, they could be used in Korea or elsewhere in war. Rain that grounds planes and bogs down mechanized forces in mud would certainly help the chances of the Communists. In this country rainmaking has not been developed to the stage where the results have much practical value. So even if the Russians aren't lying, this time, their device may not be worth much in war.

And a good thing, too, if it isn't. No one so far claims to have invented a device that will keep rain from falling, whether the rainfall is natural or is artificially induced. If there were such a device, it would be welcomed by U.S. forces, faced with increasingly wet Korean weather in the immediate future. Can't someone invent a rain-rain-go-away machine fast?

WISTFUL LITTLE MAMBO

It hasn't taken New York's Bronx Zoo long to restore its gorilla population to normal. Ten days after the 448-pound Makoko blundered off a ledge and drowned in a moat, the zoo has installed a sad-faced little black baby named Mambo. This appealing little D.A. (displaced ape), just imported from Africa, is a year and a half old and weighs 16½ pounds.

There are those who see nothing but cruelty in the caging of wild animals. The sight of the late Gargantua in his circus wagon did not give the beholder pleasant feelings. The cage was cramped. Gargantua usually turned his back to the anthropoid creatures who paid admission to see him.

But many domestic animals do live apparently contented lives under man's domination. Many animals taken from their wilderness haunts appear to settle down in captivity and become contented. A spacious enclosure in a modern zoo may, for all anyone knows, become the happy home of an African gorilla. He is safer from the zoo's lions than he would have been from the lions of his native land—and he gets fed well and regularly.

For little Mambo everyone will wish the pleasantest possible childhood, with adjustment to his surroundings and the oglers. If he meets humanity half way he'll find it is not such a bad tribe. Especially should he be advised to regard human children as creatures who would like to see a monkey happy and frolicsome. For every human young-un knows what it is to be restricted and sad and lonely.

It was such a tough winter, says Grandpappy Jenkins, that everything in his garden took a beating but the weeds.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

New European Political Issue

The West German government has made a sharp new European political issue today out of the Saar valley, an area rich in coal and industrial resources that has long been a problem on the continent.

Chancellor and Foreign Minister Dr. Konrad Adenauer is protesting strongly against French claims to the region.

The Saar lies astride the age-old route of commerce and war between France's Lorraine and the German Palatinate, a region that has known almost innumerable wars, conquests and victories.

Adenauer has placed his case before the allied high commissioner at Petersburg on the Rhine and has reaffirmed it before his own parliament.

Contends Saar Is German

His contention, simply and to the point, is that the Saar is German and always will be.

There are, without doubt, observers who will disagree with him and others who will state that his attitude on the main is historically correct.

For originally it was a component part of the loose federations of Prussian and Teutonic states which existed centuries ago before a German unification.

It has been tossed around among embattled, victorious or vanquished nations—its resources always a lure for countries looking either toward fresh expansion or recovery from prior defeat.

A battleground reduced almost to shambles in both world wars, the Saar was placed under League of Nations mandate after the first conflict.

Unique Experiment

This was followed by an experiment unique at the time, for the first international army of modern times—a sort of peaceful predecessor to the United Nations forces in Korea—was sent in to assert control over a plebiscite to choose among these three paths for the future:

1—Absorption into the republic of France.

2—Union with the nazi Germany ruling in Berlin and Berchtesgaden when the referendum was held in 1935.

3—Autonomous rule under the League of Nations direction.

The population of the Saar voted overwhelmingly to go along with Adolf Hitler.

The vote recorded was one of those 99 per cent affairs so typical of dictatorships and one-party slates, and France has charged time and again that the brownshirt organization simply "packed" the territory with supporters who browbeat the electorate into doing what they wished.

Things Changed Enetirely

Things changed entirely, of course, with the defeat of Hitler's Germany, and the valley went back to French control under a series of economic and financial agreements validated on March 3 of last year.

Under these pacts, the Saarlanders themselves have a considerable degree of independence.

But their general life, hinging upon the output of the Saar mines, is nevertheless keyed closely to the Bank of France, for the government in Paris holds a 50-year lease on them.

And this is where the core of Adenauer's objection lies.

Germany is being pressed for full cooperation in the Schuman plan for pooling of European coal and iron resources. An agreement hash been reached, but many German industrialists are still wary of too great patricipation and the government itself apparently is somewhat doubtful of many aspects.

This doubt is based upon such factors as the refusal of Great Britain to come in—chiefly because of her commonwealth arrangements and commitments—and the simultaneous retention of British control in the Ruhr valley.

Adenauer's re-statement of the new German republic's stand on the Saar means revival of an old and vexatious problem.

France has pride in and claims upon the Saar because her kings of bygone years built its cities and fortifications. But investigators have reported from time to time that French names can be found on tombstones only and that German is the language of the territory. The small area in the midst of Europe's continent is and almost always has been a symbol of struggle among nations.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

IF CHILD IS WHINY FIND CAUSE

The child under ten or 12 who is well-nourished, physically sound and healthy and feels that all is well, feels he is loved, feels sesure, is normally gay and happy most of the time. He smiles often and readily responds to a smile with a smile of his. He doesn't cry for long periods or often, and he rarely or never whines.

If your child whines there are reasons, though these reasons may not easily be ascertained and corrected. First of all he should be carefully checked by your physician—his breathing passages, his ears, his heart, his kidneys, his digestive tract, his entire physical organism; also his state of nutrition; the quality and quantity of his diet and his eating and sleeping habits.

Family Atmosphere

Ask yourself about his routine habits, about the ways you have of managing him, about the fitting of his clothing and about the entire family atmosphere. Are there unnecessary noises and confusions? Is the radio or television on much of the time while he is awake? Is there undue excitement of him? Does he hear loud pitched or whining voices? Are his parents and other persons about him tense, jittery and excitable? Or is there a quiet and serene family atmosphere? Is the family free from fears and anxieties? Most of all, is there cheerful companionship and mutual love between his parents, unhampered by other adults?

Have you been able to restrain this child with a minimum of rebuke or punishment seldom saying No or Don't and not repeating these monosyllables? Does he find you always consistent with yourself, with the other parent and with a parent-substitute? Are you able to win his cooperation and to reduce stubbornness?

Have you let him learn to do for himself what he is able to do and to amuse himself for gradually longer periods of time? Have you let him learn to wait instead of you jumping always to his beck and call? From the time he was old enough, have you led him to find abundant amusement with other children of his age? My bulletins "Tot Learning to be Sociable," "Your Child and His Playmates," "Stubbornness," "Jealousy" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

Have you enjoyed cuddling him during his earlier years and expressing affection more deeply later by listening to what he has to say, answering his questions kindly, reading to him and later with him, making and doing things with him, enjoying his creations and achievements, and having fun with him in all sorts of ways?

The Other Child

If there are other children, have you been able to prove in all sorts of ways other than by explaining, that he is as loved and worthy as the other child or children?

The way rarely is through rebukes or punishments. Of course, there may be some extreme cases with the whining toddler when it would help him to get his hampering emotions under control by sending him to another room for a definite short period or until he could "come out smiling". Yet these are only temporary measures. The surest way to help the whining child is to work patiently for weeks and months on yourself in all sorts of ways in order to provide him with wise management, better understanding, and a more relaxed, secure and satisfying atmosphere of family love and security.

WEDDING GIFT

A wedding gift is something that is difficult to choose.
Shall it be a thing of beauty or "a thing that they can use"?
Shall it be a bowl for berries or a spoon for serving stew?
If the bride would care for either, would she care for twenty-two?

I remember when we married all the kindness of our friends
And I still recall the gladness which unwrapping gifts attends.
But I also can remember when we put them on display
We had sixteen pickle dishes later on to store away.

Now I say to both my daughters
when they go to buy for me:
"Don't choose the most attractive,
for 'twill duplicated be.
Seek for something that is different, not the trinket that is new.
Brides may wish for pickle dishes,
but they don't want twenty-two."

Folks Of Fame

Helen Morgan's birthplace was Danville, Ill., in 1900. As a young girl her mother took her to Montreal, Quebec, to study singing. Instead, she won a beauty contest, and went to New York. She sang in the chorus of George White's "Scandals of 1925," and for years sang the role of Julie in Jerome Kern's "Show Boat." Her first screen appearance was in the picture, "Applause," then she went back to the stage to star in "Sweet Adeline." Back in pictures she made "Roadhouse Nights," "The Lemon Drop Kid," "Marie Galante," "Sweet Music," "Go Into Your Dance." She sang and was hostess in night clubs, usually singing sitting on a piano. She died October 8, 1941.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

Time has arrived for caution . . . this being the time of year when Polio makes its greatest headway . . . Already we have in New Castle, one new case of the disease . . . However, the patient is progressing nicely we are told . . . the local Polio Committee has asked that we use some Do's and Don't's if Polio comes.

DO . . . allow children to play with friends they have been with right along. Keep them away from new people, especially in the close daily living of a home.

DO . . . wash hands carefully before eating and always after using the toilet—especially important when polio is around. Also keep food clean and covered.

DO . . . watch for signs of sickness, such as headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, sore muscles, stiff neck or back, extreme tiredness or nervousness, trouble in breathing or swallowing.

DO . . . put a sick person to bed at once away from others, and call the doctor. Quick action may lessen crippling.

DO . . . telephone your local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, if you need help. Locate through telephone book or health department. No patient need go without care for lack of money. Your chapter will pay what you cannot afford.

DO . . . remember—at least half of all polio patients get well without any crippling.

DON'T . . . get over-tired by hard play, exercise, work or travel. This means men, women or children.

DON'T . . . get chilled. Don't bathe or swim long in cold water, or sit around in wet clothes.

DON'T . . . have mouth or throat operations during a polio outbreak.

DON'T . . . use another person's towels, dishes tableware or the like.

DON'T . . . take children to places where there is polio. Ask your health department.

DON'T . . . take your child out of camp or playground, where there is good health supervision.

Washington Calling

Vital To Seek To Aid India

WASHINGTON, June 1.—That farthest away of all places, Tibet, is once again in the news. If the Chinese Communist radio can be believed, and there is good reason to think that this time it is telling approximately the truth, this remote "roof of the world" is now behind the iron curtain.

The news recalls an evening in New Delhi, India, last October. In a sitting room in the huge official residence in which he lives, Prime Minister Nehru was talking about Communist China. With the eloquence and the brilliance that are so much a part of this complicated figure, who stands symbolically torn between east and west, Nehru expressed his belief that the regime in Peiping would necessarily be preoccupied with the overwhelming task of reconstruction inside China.

The first hints had begun to appear in the press that Chinese Communist troops were about to march on Tibet. I had suggested to Nehru that a regime bedeviled with problems inside the country might seek to distract attention by militaristic adventures beyond the borders. Military conquerors have always found it difficult to stop and consolidate their gains once they have achieved their initial goal.

Deep Insecurity

Furthermore, behind the crude boasting and the noisy claims made by the brash, raw regime in Peiping was, it seemed to me, an element of deep insecurity. Having come to power through war and revolution, Mao Tse-Tung and the men around him were fearful that they would be driven out again by force and violence. Just as Russia has felt compelled to surround herself by satellites to try to secure her own borders, so the Communist Chinese are compelled to continue their conquests.

But Nehru, speaking in that beautifully modulated voice with the accent that is neither Cambridge nor Anglo-Indian, rejected any such notion. The Chinese had to overcome the ravages of 30 years of almost constant upheaval. They had so much to do at home that it was inconceivable they would deliberately seek foreign adventure.

Strangely enough at the same time Nehru had been talking about the threat of Communist Chinese intervention in the war in Korea as the United Nations armies moved across the 38th parallel. He had passed the warning on to London and Washington and it had been received in Washington at least, with considerable skepticism. But the prime minister continued to believe that the Chinese would in some way make good on their threat if United States troops continued their advance into North Korea.

Wrong About Tibet

He was right about that. He was wrong about Tibet. That fastness in the high Himalayas with all its strategic importance looking down on India and Pakistan and menacing the border areas where the Communist peril is already greatest, will now be closed to the non-Communist world.

This is a serious loss and there is no reason to minimize it. How it might have been prevented, given the difficulties of distance and the primitive nature of the country, is something else again.

Nehru talked on through the stillness of the Indian night and it seemed to me that as he discussed the grave internal problems of the Chinese government in Peiping he was in reality speaking of his own fantastically difficult task. He is trying to make a modern democratic state out of India with the odds heavily against success.

Carries Big Burden

His vacillation, his uncertainty in turning first one way and then another, can be explained in part by the burden he carries in a country with almost as many internal problems, growing out of war and revolutionary upheaval, as in China. Nehru has shown in recent months a remarkable facility for making confused and confusing statements on foreign policy. These statements have angered many in Washington and they contributed to the delay in passage of the loan under which India will be able to obtain urgently needed grain.

That loan now seems on the way to approval and without the hampering restrictions that would have made it unacceptable to the Indian government. A House majority, including both Republicans and Democrats, acted with maturity and understanding in the face of provocative statements from those who were determined to kill the loan-to-India bill if not b direction then by indirection.

In spite of the sometimes baffling behavior of Nehru, it is vital to try to help India through this difficult period. There are very definite limitations on what America can do. But everything should be done that is reasonable possible within those limits. This becomes all the more important in view of what has happened in Tibet.

One Man s Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

Mr. Truman is in contact with the White House by telephone, teletype and Navy plane while on vacation . . . There still isn't a chance of the Republicans making a surprise landing.

But they're persistent little cusses . . . Even after Democratic chairman Boyle announced that Harry will be renominated and re-elected they went right on with their plans for holding a convention next year.

They seem to think the undeclared war in Korea, the RFC investigation, the Kefauver investigation, the state of domestic and foreign affairs all help their cause . . . Like the Dodgers they always can supply all the reasons they should win.

But when Harry gets out on the back platform and says "I'm just a Missouri boy," you can throw away the charts.

The Republicans aren't going to win until Dewey starts to wear a snapband bow tie or Taft learns to chew on a straw.

It just goes to show how eager they are though when they're willing to take over the management of the country with the books looking as they do.

Worst Is Yet To Come

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Cheer up, the worst is yet to come, is about how Eric Johnston, the economic stabilizer, feels concerning inflation. Flashing his million dollar smile, he talks about runaway living costs and ruinous defense prices within the next 120 days unless we go far beyond wage and price controls in our effort to prevent the baloney dollar from becoming the ersatz.

"Please make it clear," he admonished your reporter, "that I'm not advocating any particular one of the following remedies. But I'm saying that they are things which could be done to forestall the terrific danger of galloping inflation." With that qualification, the Johnston program would read somewhat as follows:

Proposals Included

1. Pay-as-you-go Federal spending so as to halt the growth of the national debt which is now pushing one-third of a trillion dollars.

2. Curtailment of private capital investment, now running as high as $18 billion a year. With the Federal government pouring an extra $50 billion into the manufacturing marts, Johnston would like to see businessmen suspend any plans for expansion until the defense spending has definitely passed its peak. Government control of building permits and bank credit can accomplish some forced savings on the part of private business. But Johnston much prefers to see businessmen apply self-control in their own interests. He says: "Everyone must understand that this is no time to build that extra wing on the bubble gum plant or the bra factory. Private capital should stay in the banks or in bonds for the duration of this emergency. If we have a post-emergency depression, that'll be the time for private spending."

3. Some definite program to encourage bond-buying and savings-accounts among wage earners. Johnston feels that the current leveling off of living costs, as recently reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, gives a glow of false optimism. There will soon be 1.5 million persons added to the labor force and their pockets will be jingling with spendable money. The best way to keep these and all inflation-feedings sums out of circulation would be by offering incentives for thrift. There's a need for Congress to explore such ideas as allowing people to deduct investments from their income taxes or to buy bonds which have a fixed rate of purchasing power.

Stern Employment Practices

4. Stern employment practices by the Federal and State governments in order to get rid of excess and non-productive workers. Wasted manpower is also wasted money which carries the double jeopardy of robbing the taxpayer and feeding the inflationary stream of wages.

5. Every effort to avoid rationing and further subsidies. Ration boards alone, says Johnston, would require the hiring of about 30,000 persons who would constitute a great waste of manpower and would impose the waste of still more man-hours on the rationees.

This five-point program, while not to be considered as holy writ, suggests some ways to combat danger which everybody in Washington talks about without doing much about. The Defense Production Act, which expires June 30th, seems more likely to be weakened than strengthened before Congress reenacts it. With a presidential election in the offing, not many party leaders want to risk unpopular measures. Housewives back in the home precincts are going to blame the nearest Congressman if meat is driven off the butcher's counter and into the black market. On the other hand, these same viragos will blame nobody but the butcher if meat prices are decontrolled but lofty. The lawmakers are inclined to be leery about tampering with the prosperity boom. But Johnston thinks the prosperity is like a lion cub, which is rather cute and roly-poly now, but which will bite our heads off if allowed to grow up.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

If you are married—WHY did you get married?

If you are single and thinking of getting married—WHY do you want to get married?

I am asking these questions after a violent argument with my wife about marriage.

The argument was violent but friendly—friendly because it did not concern us personally; violent because she and I hold two entirely different views about the subject.

She showed me two newspaper clippings.

One was about a Seattle woman who had abandoned her three-year-old son in a supermarket and said to the police that she'd rather spend the rest of her life in jail than take him back again.

The child was a cerebral-palsy case and, according to the mother, she just couldn't stand him. "He makes me nervous."

She would also like to get rid of her 11-months-old daughter.

Her husband feels the same way, according to the report.

This is one of the most horrible stories of parental negligence I have ever heard of or read.

I told my wife that such a case proves nothing against marriage itself.

"No," she agreed, "but too many people are not properly prepared for marriage.

"Too many boys and girls don't give enough thought to the duties and responsibilities of marriage before they enter into it."

Then she showed me the other clipping.

It was from New Orleans, La., where Dr. Lloyd W. Roland, director of the Louisiana Society of Mental Health, had just produced a series of pamphlets, "Milestones to Marriage."

These pamphlets, called "letters," will be distributed among high school boys and girls, and cover such subjects as home influence, first dates, petting, personality development, home economy and cooperation.

They are based upon a thorough study of the subject and one of the important considerations is the understanding of what marriage is and what it involves, particularly the coming of children.

In other words these pamphlets are designed to prepare youngsters for marriage.

I agreed with my wife that the idea is GOOD. But I claim that no matter how much children are taught or how much they read about marriage, the most forceful reason will still always be INSTINCT.

I asked her why it is that in the old days when nobody ever knew or thought about teaching the principles of marriage there was a much lower percentage of divorces than there is now.

I insisted that the best and most effective teacher will always be the example set by the parents and the general standard of decency, morality, responsibility that prevails at home.

Love asks no questions. Love is not logical. Love is stormy when it is young. Love has invincible courage. Love takes chances. When love is combined with a good background, with an innate and fostered sense of what is right, the result is usually satisfactory.

If the answer to the question "Why did you get married?" is "Because I was in love," your marriage is all right if YOU are all right.

But if it was expediency, money, passion, to get away from home—or any one of many other reasons—then it may have already gone on the rocks or will go there one of these days.

By the way, as a result of this column I must ask my wife, "Why did YOU get married?"

I wonder what her answer will be.

State Income Tax May Pass

See Some Chance For Approval Now

HARRISBURG, June 1.—(INS)—There is some sentiment among lawmakers in both the House and Senate that the political dalliance in certain legislative quarters may end up with enactment of the one-half of one per cent income tax now stalled in the upper chamber . . . Opposition in the Senate could be minimized, they believe, by distribution of a few plums despite Fine's refusal . . . In one instance it is understood that a GOP senator would line up for the tax if he had assurance that he would not be opposed for another term . . . His future is slightly clouded because two factions are battling for control of his county . . . Still another factor which could reduce opposition is a bill to prohibit wage taxes on non-residents . . . The main effect would be to free thousands of workers in counties adjacent to Philadelphia from the one and a quarter per cent wage tax levied by the Quaker City government . . . Other municipalities also would be affected but not as much is at stake as in the Philadelphia subrban arear . . . If the measure should pass, the opposition of senators from Montgomery and Delaware counties to the income tax probably would end.

U. S. Sen. Edward Martin says that State Adj. Gen. F. A. Weber did an outstanding job in keeping the vast Indiantown Gap military reservation in tip-top shape in the post-war years until the federal government activated it as an infantry training center . . . Approximately three million dollars has been allocated for painting, a federal responsibility . . . Martin, one-time commander of the 28th Infantry division which called Indiantown home, gave the impression that Weber should be commended in some way for his service . . . Weber also did what is considered to be a bang-up job in helping to build the Pennsylvania National Guard, of which the 28th is the backbone, during post-war years.

It appears that the Pennsylvania Grange has suceeded once more in persuading House and Senate agriculture committees to pickle legislation which would have permitted unrestricted sales of colored oleomargarine . . . The Grange's task was simplified by the comparative weakness of the oleo lobby which was headed on paper by Judge Lois McBride of Allegheny county . . . The oleo cause so far has not made a wide appeal . . . While the politics supposedly had no place in the oleo lobby it was significant that chief behind-the-scenes supporters were Democrats . . . They were on hand during public appearances to press the oleo fight although remaining in the background, as the pictures show . . . The oleo lobby generalized most of its publicity in comparison to the Grange which would slam the opposition with such facts as: 79 per cent of all establishments inspected in Oklahoma, which permits colored oleo sales, were found to be violating the law in respect to handling the butter substitute.

State Sen. Samuel G. Neff (D) Lawrence, is hoping that the 74th bill he introduced will not meet the fate of the other 73 . . . It provides for Korean war veterans to receive seniority and other benefits allowed World War II veterans employed by the commonwealth and its political sub-divisions . . . "If the General Assembly doesn't pass this bill," he said, "there will be nothing to cover these fellows until the next legislature convenes two years from now . . . The 73 previous bills introduced by Neff all have died in committee . . . A spokesman for labor on many occasions, he was elected to the Senate in 1948 . . . He claims that many of his ideas that were killed in committee were adopted by Republican legislators and passed on the floor of the Senate.

Westinghouse And Workers May Agree

PITTSBURGH, June 1.—(INS)—Leaders of the CIO-International Union of Electrical Workers today weighed a nine cents hourly pay increase offer by the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Unofficial sources indicated, following meetings that continued through yesterday, that an agreement between the company and the union representing 50,000 Westinghouse workers may be effected today.

A company spokesman was quoted as saying "progress had been made" after a meeting with CIO-IEU president James B. Carey which lasted until 6 o'clock last night.

The predominant age among persons arrested in the U. S. in 1949 was 21.

Court House

Emma Carson To Be Honored

Farewell Dinner Saturday, June 2

Miss Emma Carson, deputy prothonotary and clerk of courts, is not going to retire without her friends doing something about it.

On Saturday night, Juen 2, the employes of the court house have planned a farewell dinner for Miss Carson in the Cathedral at 6 o'clock. Detention Officer Charles D. Ross is the chairman of the dinner.

It isn't going to be a long program, but it will be an interesting one. Many of the people who will be present were not yet born when Miss Carson started work in the court house in 1912.

In addition to the employes, a number of attorneys are planning to be present as well as some friends outside the court house and the bar.

Registration Chief Clerk A. Lewis Conn will be the toastmaster of the dinner. Judges W. Walter Braham and John G. Lamoree will speak briefly and the bar association will be represented by a speaker. Miss Florence Thompson of the register and recorder's office will sing.

Miss Carson retires officially as of today but the dinner date was set for Saturday night in order to accomodate many who wanted to be present.

Green Pea Acreage Increased This Year

HARRISBURG, June 1.—Doing their share in growing more vegetables to be canned or frozen this season as an aid to meeting emergency food requirements, truck growers of Pennsylvania have increased their green pea acreage by six per cent over last year, the State Department of Agriculture announces.

The planted acreage for green peas for processing this year in Pennsylvania is reported at 14,300 acres following a Federal-State survey. This compares with 13,500 acres last year and the 1940-49 average of 14,540 acres, the Department said. The smooth, round type of green pea has been planted on 4,290 acres and the remaining 10,010 acres are growing the sweet wrinkled type, the survey revealed.

Planting of green peas for canning and freezing was completed in Pennsylvania during the first half of May. Growing conditions have been satisfactory in most areas.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Summer Camp Ahead!

Probably from four to six million children went to some sort of summer camp last year. Whatever the exact number, we know that more and more youngsters are going to private camps, scout or YM and YW camps, or church camps for from a week to ten weeks.

But there are camps and camps! We parents have an obligation to know something about the kind of a situation our youngsters will be in when they're off for a good time at camp. Here are a few hints of what to look for.

Healthy surroundings and good food are, of course, most important. But few camps fall down on these counts any more. You can pretty well count on them to meet minimum health and safety requirements. More important is a check on such things as:

Counselors who like youngsters—What experience have the counselors had with children? Do they know what youngsters are like?

Not too heavy a schedule—Though youngsters like activity, they need plenty of chance for rest and even for loafing. A schedule that keeps them going every minute is questionable.

Variety of activities—For younger children, particularly, a camp should offer a variety of activities. Athletics and games yes. But also craft work, nature study, lots of camping out and cooking. The richer the variety of activities the more likely it is that your child will find something that will interest and challenge him.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

ARE YOU NOISY?

Sheck up on yourself and see if you are a noise-maker.

Do you slam doors instead of taking time to pull them closed as quietly as possible?

Do you slam windows open and closed rather than gently slide them up and down?

Do you stomp up and down stairs disregarding the paint finish, as well as the nerves of the other occupants of the building?

Do you turn your radio on with a loud blast, especially in the very early or very late hours when others are sleeping?

Do you speak in a loud voice that hurts the ear drums of your listeners?

Do you read aloud, without invitation or encouragement, thereby spoiling the concentration of other readers nearby? This is especially annoying in family gatherings when it is necessary for several to congregate in the living room for the evening's quiet reading.

Do you allow your children to scream during their play period on the street, especially when their games carry them over to your neighbor's property?

Do you give loud parties lasting until the wee hours, shrieking your "goodnight" at your front door to your departing guests?

Are you a street car whistler who emits shrill sounds in the ears of a tired businessman coming home from a hard day's work?

Do you yawn and sigh audibly, thereby depressing those who overhear you?

If you are guilty of any or all of these annoying faults, you had better reform while you still have a few friends left.

Rose Avenue Has Memorial Program

Pupils of Rose Avenue grade school presented an impressive program on May 30 in the school. The program opened with the Girl Scouts serving as color guard, followed by the flag salute and singing of the National Anthem. Bible readings and the Lord's prayer were in charge of Virginia Weatherby and Roger Davis.

Mary Elizabeth Sbarro, Carol McKee and Sandra Bame participated in special parts which were followed by a Flag Day demonstration by the Girl Scouts on how to display and how to fold the American flag.

A group of songs was followed by the singing of "Old Soldiers Never Die" by Helen R. Leslie with the audience also participating. The Girl Scouts retired the colors and the playing of taps on the trumpet by Joe Foster concluded the program.

The primary children assembled at 9 a.m. for the program and the upper grades at 9:30. Miss Helen R. Leslie supervised the program. Girl Scouts from Troop 18 led by Mrs. Frank Davis took part.

GYPSY LABOR

VIENNA — (INS) — An escapee from a Czech internment camp reported that 3,000 gypsies had been rounded up and put in forced labor by the Communists in the past six months. He said the gypsies, put to work in coal mines at heavy labor, were arrested because they criticized the regime's stiff regimentation.

Make Awards At Union High

Members Of Senior Class Get Honors

During an assembly program of Union high school on May 29, many senior students were honored.

Many seniors received medals and awards for their outstanding work during their high school career.

The exercises began with devotions, and opening exercises were capably and impressively handled by the high school Principal J. Arthur Turek.

Distinctive Awards

The two distinctive awards were presented to Valedictorian James Vaughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Vaughn, of Pulaski, and Jennie Merolillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Merolillo of Edenburg, the salutatorian.

Following the two presentations, the other seniors were presented with appropriate citations and medals. Mr. Turek specifically called attention of the student body, that the book-learning was not sufficient to a complete education for life's journey, but a sum and substance of all worth-while activities which the school has provided for each student were great essential factors in moulding a career.

Requisites For Citations

Mr. Turek gave requisites for each of the citations presented, and heartily congratulated each honored recipient. Beside the highest scholastically honored students who received the valedictory and salutatory medals, the following received the other awards. Principal's award, Charles Kelso; citizenship award, Jackie Funkhouser, Lee McNeish; dramatics award, Phyllis Phillips, Donald Bacon; music award, Phyllis Phillips, Charles Kelso; declamation, Philip Maronde; history, James Vaughn; commercial, Delores Duda; mathematics, Mary Lou Devite; science, James Vaughn; Bausch and Lomb science award, Lee McNeish; English, Sophie Jendrysik; athletics, Pete Barber.

Immediately following presentations, the moving up exercises took place. As the seniors filed out from their senior seats for the last time, the juniors moved in to take their places. It was a happy impressive occasion to many, but many seniors felt sadly as they began to realize that their high school days were coming to an end.

Union high school is graduating sixty this year, and as other senior groups, this year's seniors have a distinctive quality to them that differ from the past classes due to the evolution of society and changing conditions.

The assembly program closed with the singing of "America" and Alma Mater.

Welcome Week At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, June 1. — (INS) —Pittsburgh's Welcome Week celebration got officially underway today, and many and varied are the events listed on the program.

A rivet-throwing contest will kick-off the three-day activities today, with some 20 teams of construction workers out to cop the coveted rivet-throwing championship.

A big speedboat regatta and a colorful sternwheeler boat race will climax the celebration on Saturday. Some 450,000 persons are expected to witness the regatta in which more than 70 entries are posted.

The sternwheeler race, which brings back the colorful days of steamboat racing in years past, will match the U. S. Steel's undefeated Homestead against Jones and Laughlin's William Larimer Jones.

LEVEL CHANGES

WAKEFIELD, Mass. — Crystal Lake, which serves as Wakefield's reservoir, certainly has its ups and downs. Last fall the water dropped 57 inches and water had to be pumped in from nearby towns. This spring it rose 13 inches above the high water mark, a total rise of five feet since the fall.

Thaddeus Stevens School Pupils Present Program

Traditional May Day festivities take first place in winding up the activities of the year at Thaddeus Stevens school. In honor of May queen Elvi Sacripant and her court, the third graders wound the May pole.

Striking combination of sunbonnets and aprons, straw hats and overalls added color to the garden dance of the first graders. The second and third grades contributed singing and dances.

Bicycle built for two by the Mosen-Caruso team furnished the crowd with fun. The fours, fives and sixes completed the program with traditional folk dances.

Mr. Canning directed the school orchestra for the procession and recession. Paul Mizzi, grade three, was a remarkably capable accompanist.

Governor of the school, Principal Wallace, and the guardian of the school, Custodian Blair, were presented with gifts.

Another exciting wind-up activity is the annual marshball tournament. This year the 5-1 team, captained by Domenick Perrotta, finished in first place. The third grades have been quite active in sports during the year and they are playing off a third grade tournament. The final game will be played at a later date.

Plans for school picnics and a sixth grade excursion to Pittsburgh will be completed in the next few days. The Thaddeus Stevens P.T.A. is furnishing picnic desserts for each class.

Seek To Avoid Strike Threatened By Airline Pilots

DENVER, June 1. — (INS) — United Air Line pilots and Air Line officials were to meet in Denver today to continue talks in an effort to avoid a strike threatened by pilots.

U.A.L. vice president John A. Herlihy and Capt. H. L. Jacobsen, pilot union spokesman, agreed yesterday "some progress is being made toward settlement," but details of a new contract proposal were not disclosed.

Keynote of the dispute is pay rates for pilots flying the new DC-6B plane. The new air liner has increased speed, resulting in more flights for the same pay received for operating a slower type aircraft.

Union spokesmen claimed a strike against United would spread to American Air Lines, bringing a serious curtailment in U. S. air transportation.

President Starts On His Return Trip To Washington

PATUXENT NAVAL AIR STATION, Md., June 1.—(INS)—President Truman began his return trip to Washington today after a four-day boat outing on Chesapeake Bay.

His cruise aboard the Presidential yacht Williamsburg has combined some work with rest, but in the main, the President has just taken it easy.

Mr. Truman is due back at Blair House in Washington early Saturday afternoon.

The reason he is returning to Washington Saturday instead of remaining aboard the yacht over the weekend is in order to talk by trans-Atlantic telephone with his daughter, Margaret, in England.

Her ship docks at Southhampton Saturday afternoon, and the President wants to surprise her with a telephone call before she boards the boat train for London.

The Williamsburg anchored last night in Chesapeake bay off the Patuxent Naval Air Station. The President is scheduled to leave around 9 a.m. (EDT) to start the trip home.

Doctor Loses Long Battle With Cancer

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 1.—(INS)—A Brazilian physician who engaged in cancer research and experimented on himself when he found he was a victim, has lost his fight after a long battle against the disease.

Internationally known for his experiments in the battle against the dreaded disease, Dr. Napoleon Laureano succumbed yesterday after months of treatment during which time the new drug "Krebiozen" was used.

Dr. Laureano early this spring visited New York where physicians at Memorial hospital said there was no cure for him.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy of the University of Illinois had announced in Chicago March 27 that some advanced cases of cancer had been benefited by treatment with the drug.

Several times Dr. Laureano had rallied when treated with the drug.

Immaculate Group Crowning Ceremony

At St. Lucy's church, at 3 p.m., May 27, the Immaculate Conception Sodality conducted a beautiful May Queen ceremony. The Rosary was said by Rev. Fr. Stanislaus Zachewicz.

Four new candidates were initiated into the sodality by Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito, who presented each with a sodality medal. The candidates are Jacqueline Dattilo, Phyllis West, Rose Augustine, Catherine Lombardo.

Rev. Fr. Ippolito blessed the crown, and crowned the May Queen Frances Lombardo, who was attired in a white robe with a blue satin cape and white satin skull cap. The train bearers were Angela Piccirillo and Marian Stone; the six attending: Carmella Colatruglio, Elizabeth Leitera, Flossie Masone, Justine DeCaprio, Mary Juliano, Mary Burzachechi, who wore yellow, green, pink gowns.

The sermon was given by Rev. Fr. Walter Karaveckas, assistant at Old St. Patrick's church, Pittsburgh. He was formerly assistant at St. Lucy's church. Benediction was given Fr. Ippolito.

Due to weather conditions the procession and crowning of the Blessed Mother was held indoors instead of on the church lawn. Those participating were the altar boys, first Holy Communion class, and sodalists of the Immaculate Conception.

Fr. Zachewicz read the Litany to Our Lady. The sodalists sang the crowning hymn as the May Queen ascended to the altar and crowned the Blessed Virgin Mary. The 6 attendants presented their flowers to the Blessed Mother; prayer, and singing of the hymn, "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother", brought the services to a close.

Frances Lombardo is treasurer of the Immaculate Conception sodality of St. Lucy's church, and corresponding secretary of Lawrence County Union sodality.

Government To Order Slash In Some Production

By WILLIAM KERWIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The government will slash today production of refrigerators, washing machines and other consumer durable goods 30 per cent. But an order reducing automobile output hit a snag.

The National Production Authority said it expects to issue the durable goods order this morning, moving up the cut in steel supplies from 20 to 30 per cent in July, August and September.

NPA's action will affect hundreds of manufacturers ranging from radio and television set producers to firms turning out bicycles, deep freezers and household appliances.

Meanwhile, NPA staff experts submitted a new plan calling for a 37 per cent reduction in automobile output in the three months starting in July.

The proposal would cut production from the 1,894,676 cars manufactured in the third quarter of 1950 to at least 1,200,000 vehicles this summer.

NPA Administrator Manly Fleischmann was handed the plan as an alternative to a previous system that, a last minute check showed, would have forced some producers to cut output 50 per cent.

New York Price War Continues

NEW YORK, June 1.—(INS)—New York's department store price war raged for the third day today with large numbers of men joining the invasion of bargain hunters.

With prices continuing to fall, the "shock troops" of bargain seekers were massed at the entrance of the major stores long before the doors opened.

At Macy's, largest department store in the world, the crush in the streets was so great the front doors of the store were opened more than half an hour early.

When the doors swung open the shoppers surged forward, only to be halted by chain barriers placed around the counters to prevent the invaders from reaching merchandise before the official selling time.

21,141 Children . . .

For the past sixty years the Roselia Foundling and Maternity Hospital has given shelter and understanding care to members of most every Community of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia . . . regardless of race, color or creed. Because of the secret nature of this charitable work little publicity has been given to this service.

Since Roselia opened its doors 21,141 children have been cared for. Nearly 15,000 mothers have been administered to. Every effort is made to give the babies as much individual attention as possible. The attitude towards the mothers is one of constructive sympathy. An attempt is made to understand the girls, their background and their problems and to give understanding and encouragement during this most difficult time.

The present facilities are wholly inadequate to meet the demands of today. Currently 110 babies and 33 mothers are under care. Many are waiting for service.

You can help in this great work . . . play an individual part in this great charity . . . assist this worthy institution in securing modern, fire-proof buildings and up-to-date facilities. Simply send your check, or money order to Roselia Foundling & Maternity Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Help these citizens of tomorrow with your generosity today.

Mystery Blast Covered Wide Area

Just what caused Wednesday night's mystery blast may never be known, but it seemed to have covered a great amount of territory in this section.

According to David G. Piper of the Michigan Limestone & Chemical Co., who was at the Annandale plant of the company yesterday, the matter was the principal topic of conversation yesterday, with reports of the flash having been seen brightly at Annandale, Grove City and points farther south.

Some suggestion has been made that it might have been a meteor but no official explanation has as yeat been made.

SERVE GARDEN FRESH ASPARAGUS OFTEN

Tender green stalks of asparagus get a warm welcome from anyone who savors its fresh garden goodness. Plain cooked and topped with butter or sauce, asparagus is delicious any time.

During the short asparagus season, serve this green vegetable often. When you buy asparagus, count on four servings per pound.

YOUR LOOKS ARE IMPORTANT

How you look to your family and friends is important. Looks are not everything but you do want to be attractive. One way to get a pleasing outward appearance is to dress the part. It is equally important to be neat and to follow fashion trends. Wear skirts at a length which is best for you and in current fashion, and wear your hair in an up-to-date style.

Never get into a rut with your dressing. Buy something different once in a while. A new hat or dress will give you a lift. Choose becoming styles and colors; they can be striking and pleasing to the eye without being too extreme.

Take time to play up your hair. If it is turning gray, don't stay too long with the brown shades. Choose more becoming colors, such as mauve, lilac, and the pinkish-lavender tones.

Look at yourself in a full-length mirror, taking in the view from the top of your head to the tip of your shoes. If you are not satisfied with what you see, decide to do something about it at once.

KEEP STAY-ABED CHILD INTERESTED

When it is necessary for your child to spend a few days in bed, he will need something to relieve the monotony. Also you will need your time free to do essential jobs.

Drawing is natural for children so provide your child with large crayons or a pencil and a large sheet of blank paper, like wrapping paper. When he has these things, there is nothing to hamper his full and free expression.

Many children like to carve, so start your child with a piece of soap and a knife that fits his hand easily.

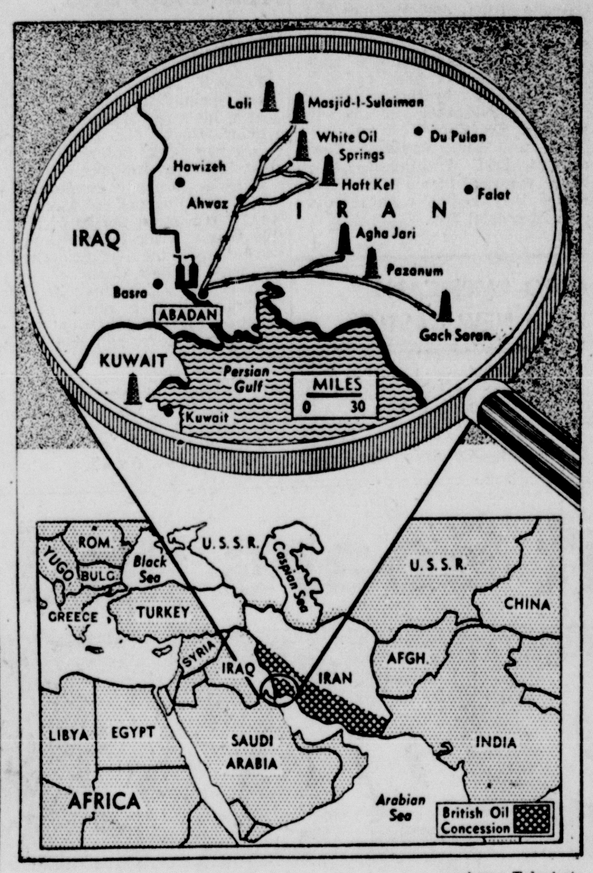
Books are always good entertainment for the stay-abed child. Choose these books carefully and according to the age of your child. Books that will be most interesting for the pre-school child, are those that are in color, have objects familiar to the child, and are without too much detail.

Story books that will interest a child are written in a pleasing style, are about things a child will enjoy, have a repetition of words or ideas, and have only a simple plot.

STORING CEREALS

The keeping qualities of modern breakfast cereals have been so improved that you need follow only a few simple storage rules. These rules are: Keep cereals in a clean, cool, dry, convenient place in the kitchen; open cereal packages carefully; and keep cereals, which are to be cooked, in their original packages.

IRAN—WORLD HOT SPOT



—Acme Telephoto

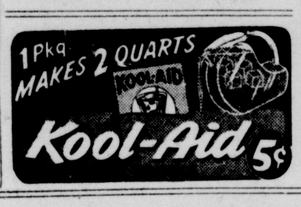
IRAN—One of the most "inflammable" spots in a troubled world is the area highlighted on the Newsmap above. It includes the heart of the British oil concessions in Iran, around the Persian gulf. Britain, facing the threat of Iranian nationalization of its oil, was recently reported ready to send troops to guard British lives and property around the big Iranian port of Abadan—site of the world's largest oil refinery. British government is reported delaying the troop movement for fear it might provoke Russia into marching into Iran under terms of a 1921 treaty. Such moves might easily touch off World War III.

Former Resident Taken By Death

Oliver Newell Craig, a former resident of this city, passed away at his home, 1345 Plainfield road, Cleveland Heights, on May 30. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Craig and husband of Helen Stafford Craig.

Funeral services were to be conducted fro mthe Baptist church, corner Rosemont and Euclid avenue, Cleevland, on Friday, June 1, at 4 p. m.

The first Lenoir car, built in 1863, had a 1½-horsepower motor.



State Agencies To Band Together To Battle 'Oak Wilt'

HARRISBURG, June 1.—(INS)—Four state agencies were banded together in a campaign to rub out "oak wilt" threatening Pennsylvania oaks.

The fungus disease, new to Pennsylvania oak trees, will be attacked by the state department of agriculture, the state game commission, the state department of forests and waters and extension service of Pennsylvania State college.

A small infestation was found and destroyed near McVeytown in Mifflin county last fall, according to Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst. It was the first infestation of the wilt found east of Ohio.

"Right now we desperately need the assistance of farmers and other woodland owners in locating possible other outbreaks of the disease," declared Horst.

"They should look now for irregular circular areas or clumps of dead oak trees and notify county agents, forests or game wardens or the department of agriculture if they are found. In July they should look for oak leaves showing an upward cupping, turning to a dull light green color and later turning brown and dropping. If twigs of infected trees are cut the sapwood usually shows dark brown streaks. Trees may be defoliated in two to four weeks.

"Clumps of trees killed by oak wilt will have the dead trees in the center and unhealthy appearing trees with sprout growth on the margins of the infected area," he added.

Red and black oaks are most susceptible while white oak may live several years after infection.

Samples of diseased wood suspected of oak wilt should be sent promptly to the bureau of plant industry, state department of agriculture, Harrisburg.

Secure Investments Are Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1951, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 1.—No one knows whether we will have another world war within the next few years or not. Russia will not start one this summer. Her crops must be gathered and the rivers frozen over first. The Chinese communists waited until the Korean rivers froze so that their troops would not be dependent upon bridges. The same policy applies to Russia. The critical time will not be this summer but late this fall and winter. If Russia does not attack this winter, it is reasonable to believe we will have some more years of cold war.

Roger W. Babson

Real security cannot be obtained by military force or by moving out of larger cities. There are many cases in history where the military force itself has turned against the government and taken over the country under a dictatorship of its own. Hence, in building airplanes, tanks and other implements of warfare we may be equipping revolutionists in our own country.

The Inflation Enemy

Another possible enemy of security is inflation, which the military—instead of preventing—are encouraging. England "won" both World War I and World War II. The same might be said of France and certain other countries. The people of these countries have turned away from economic security for temporary military security. There is no doubt in my mind but what we would "win" World War III if it should come; but I am sure we would then lose economic security.

Before World War I, England was very prosperous with her colonial possessions and her world-wide holdings of shipping, insurance and other stocks. Today, England is broke. Her people have no economfc security. If we enter into World War III, we might end up in the same way. Your money, government bonds and other investments might be worth only 30 cents on the dollar as our country would be burdened with a terrific debt. Therefore, use your influence for world peace.

Fundamental Security

War and threat of war undermines character. From a security standpoint, certain character traits, such as honesty, for instance, are fundamental for prosperous industry, commerce and investments. Hence, our churches, schools and homes try to instill character assets into our youth. Security in peacetime depends primarily upon character and the development of the very factors of life which military service tends to destroy.

We criticise today the criminal underworld which has been uncovered by the Kefauver crime committee. We deplore the exposures which Fulbright's committee has shown up in connection with the R. F. C. and other government agencies. We hear that Washington is honeycombed with graft and inefficiency. We wonder what the reason may be. If we will turn back the pages of history, we will find that the same conditions followed the Mexican, Civil, Spanish-American and World War I. The wretched conditions today are due to the breaking down of character, caused by World War II.

What To Invest In

For security, locate where you are not liable to be bombed. Buy a place in some small agricultural community 60 miles from a vulnerable city. Use this as a summer place and as a protection. Build up bank deposits in medium-sized, safe cities for reinvestment during the next panic. The nation's banking situation as a whole is excellent and you can safely buy stock in your local bank if it is safe from bombing. Good common stocks of companies safe from bombing should be good investments for the long pull, although they will fluctuate with general business conditions. In the case of corporate bonds or preferred stocks, you should buy only "convertibles".

The most important need for security is to invest in good health and character—together with a family of well-educated and spiritually-minded children. See that your children are taught not only industry, honesty and law-abidance, but also a sound religious faith which will stand by them when trouble comes. Furthermore, train them for some specific line of work, such as medical, engineering and business professions, or the essential trades. In other words, invest in education.

Airport News Shows Activity At Local Field

Activity has increased considerably at the New Castle airport, it was announced today by Wilson Aviation, operator of a flying school there. Cross country flights and issuing of private licenses are high on the list of activity.

Dr. Albert Opp of Maitland Lane, Walmo, made a cross country flight to Canton, O., Erie and return to New Castle. Paul Bradigan of 814 West Grant street made his cross country flight to Vandergrift on Memorial Day. Both are attempting to qualify for a commercial pilot's license.

Richard D. Mooney received his private pilot's license after completing his training with Wilson. Cecil Suber of 106 East Lincoln avenue made his first solo hop at the field and plans to continue with his training and build up time toward a pilot's license.

The Wilson Aviation school has recently received a certificate of merit with a grade of airport operation above the average from the Airplane Owners & Pilots Association, a national organization.

Robert Osterling of this city has purchased a Piper Cub which he plans to store at the local airport. Captain Paul Taylor of the North West Airlines visited his first instructor, Findley G. Wilson, recently. He began his aviation career assisting Mr. Wilson about the airport in 1934 and not reaching 16 until 1938, he could not solo until that time. He soloed on his 16th birthday and has qualified for a commercial pilot's rating and instructor's certificate.

Captain Taylor now makes regular scheduled trips between Minneapolis and Tokyo, Japan.

Need Housecleaning At Washington Declare Senators

PHILADELPHIA, June 1—(INS)—Pennsylvania's two Republican Senators slapped the wrists of Democratic leadership today and called for a "thorough housecleaning" in Washington.

The GOP Senators assailed the Democratic leadership which they charged with countenancing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation scandals.

In a special communication to the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, Martin said that recent Washington scandals show that from "the attic to the basement in our federal structure there is need for a complete cleansing that will drive out the crime, corruption and Communism that are rotting away the moral foundations of America."

Duff, in a similar communication, said RFC probes has "brought to light an appalling evidence of special privilege, double dealing and graft."

He added the Senate crime investigating committee made disclosures "of nationwide syndicates with their tentacles reaching high into the Democratic party."

Discuss City Manager Plan

City Solicitor Is Kiwanis Speaker

Discussing the proposed legislation before the general assembly, which would give third class cities the right to adopt a city manager form of government, City Solicitor Robert M. White told Kiwanis club members that he did not feel that it would improve the city's government.

Mr. White traced the history of city government down through the years, the present commission form having succeeded the old bicameral system, in which the city was governed by common and select councils, one select man and two common councilmen being elected from each ward. In 1913, the Clark act did away with this system and provided the one now in use here.

The succeeding election there were around 73 candidates sought the job of councilman.

Incompetency Held Bad

There is no form of government which will assure good government, he stated. Bad government comes not so much from dishonesty as from incompetency. When there are incompetent men in office, they are preyed upon by dishonest outsiders. The city manager plan would not be a good thing unless there was some particular evil which needed correcting, he stated. If you elect good men to office, you will get good officials, he said.

If you keep changing the form of government, it is not good for the governed. He cited one city which has a new city manager almost every year.

In the proposed plan, there would be three councilmen elected at a salary of $600 per year to supervise the city manager and approve his actions. Night meetings would be held and you would be apt to get men who would be trying to legislate on matters they knew little about.

He stated that under the present system, in his opinion, we have a good form of government.

Could Have Manager Now

A city manager could be had by New Castle under the present commission form of government, as long as the duties of council were not taken away from them. What is needed is to change the people, rather than the government.

Another speaker before the club was John J. Widrow of Oil City, state chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, who spoke on the progress being made in the study of polio.

Farewell to the club was said by James Crawford and Peter Rosenberger, who have been junior Kiwanians during the past half year, during which time they have had an opportunity of observing Kiwanis at work, as guest visitors each meeting day.

This being good citizenship week Ralph L. Gibson spoke on the responsibilities of Kiwanians in this regard.

Al. Borio, Clothing Stylist, Says: Yes, the male can epitomize glamour—providing it is done in a masculine manner. 1t

INSULINOR INSURANCE

Insulin is a life saver for diabetics. Insurance is a good thing for everyone.

It is a pretty hard problem to figure just exactly how much insurance a person should carry.

Possibly accident and health insurance is the most important. Some people carry too much insurance. They keep themselves miserable paying for troubles which may never come.

Plenty of sleep, proper food and good sanitation are pretty good kinds of insurance.

Grandad had typhoid and diphtheria and scarlet fever and all the others when he was a boy.

Butch will not have any of those dangerous diseases and that is one kind of insurance.

The Kalmucks are the last known organized community among descendants of Genghis Khan's Golden Horde, according to the National Geographic Society.

PEOPLE'S WHISKEY

VIENNA — (INS) — Romanians soon may be drinking a new "people's whiskey" made from the mash of rushes. The Bucharest newspaper Universal said technicians were extracting distilled spirits from rush rizzons, found in quantities in the delta and marsh region of the Danube.

DIME DRINKS

DALLAS, Tex. — The nickel bottle of "pop" may soon go the way of the good five cent cigar, W. F. McNamara, of Austin, secretary of the Texas Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages, said in Dallas recently it's quite possible all soft drinks will cost a dime by the end of the year.

The message was viewed as the latest attempt by the United States to persuade the Iranian government to negotiate with Great Britain on the critical oil nationalization problem.

Mr. Truman is spending a brief vacation from his White House duties cruising on Chesapeake Bay aboard the yacht Williamsburg.

DUBLIN, June 1.—(INS)—Former Premier Eamon De Valera's Fianna Fail party, with 61 seats assured in the New Dail Eireann, appeared today to have failed in its bid to obtain a clear majority over all other parties in the Irish Republic elections.

The latest tally showed the state of the parties as follows:

Fianna Fail, 61; Fine Gael, 35; Labor, 14; Independents, 13; others, 8.

Regardless of the final results after the remaaining votes have been tallied, it is certain that the Fianna Fail will be the largest single party in the next parliament of the Republic.

Did A Welshman Find America?

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(INS)—Just as Columbus proved that the world is not flat, so may a Chattanooga historian prove that it was not Columbus who discovered America.

After 15 years of research, Miss Zella Armstrong maintains that Medoc, a 12th century Welshman, got here first. She bases her claim on Welsh tradition and a letter written by John C. Sevier a prominent Alabaman, more than a century ago.

She explains that little-known Welsh histories tell of three voyages supposed made by Medoc to the southern portion of what is now known as the United States.

As for Sevier, he wrote of an interview that a Cherokee Indian named Oconnestota claimed his ancestors had with Medoc.

The Tennessee historian set out to prove her point in a book called "Who Discovered America?" She claims agreement from all but a few of the historians who have read it.

Industrial Council Hears Reports On Housing Project

Candidates for party nominations at the primary election July 24 were endorsed recently when the Lawrence County Industrial Union Council met in United Labor hall.

George Barberio, president, was in charge of the meeting with representatives from 12 local unions attending.

The conucil unanimously agreed to support all labor organizations and all those who are interested in bringing to the city of New Castle a federal low rent housing project. The Lawrence County Industrial Union Council will do all possible to induce councilmen from New Castle to use all influence to have such a unit built, it was stated. Reports on housing by members of Lawrence County Industrial Union Council who attended city council meeting Monday, May 28, were heard. Reports were submitted by Pete Costello, UAW-CIO staff representative; George T. Barberio, Industrial Union Council president, and Mrs. Lillian McHenry from local 3125 Shenango Pottery Workers.

State Senator Samuel G. Neff spoke on housing conditions in Lawrence county and emphasized that the city of New Castle has been very lax in not having had a housing unit, inasmuch as federal housing aid has been available to communities since 1937. He stated New Castle can have a 500-unit federal housing project if it so desires.

Senator Neff also gave an interesting resume of problems currently being discussed in the state legislature that affect the people of the commonwealth.

Delaware is the state with the lowest elevation, averaging around 60 feet; Colorado averaging 6800 feet, has the highest.

Three Found Dead In Shamokin Home

SHAMOKIN, Pa., June 1.—(INS)—A Shamokin couple and their young son found dead in a bedroom of their home were victims of carbon monoxide fumes, Northumberland county coroner Sidney Kallaway said today.

The victims had been dead about 48 hours when their bodies were discovered yesterday, Kallaway said. He identified them as Samuel Randall, 54; his wife, Anne, 42, and son Donald, 9.

Randall was supervising manager of a dress company plant in Shamokin.

Police chief Myron F. Reese said the Randalls had not been seen since Tuesday and employes at the dress firm became alarmed when he failed to report for work and could not be reached by telephone.

A caretaker of the family's farm near Shamokin discovered the bodies when he came to town.

Reese said the poisonous gas came from a coal furnace in the cellar and that the deaths apparently were accidental.

Former Editor Of Washington Paper On Honeymoon

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(INS)—Mrs. Ruth McCormick Miller, former editor of the Washington Times-Herald, and her bridegroom, veteran newsman Garvin E. Tankersley, prepared today for a Honeymoon in Africa.

The couple was married last night, each for the second time, in a private ceremony at the Bridge's estate, Al-Marah, in nearby Montgomery county, Md.

Mrs. Miller resigned as editor of the Times-Herald a few months ago after a policy dispute with her uncle, Col. Robert McCormick, who publishes both the Times-Herald and Chicago Tribune.

Col. McCormick did not attend the wedding ceremony but reportedly communicated with his niece before the marriage.

'Never Steal Loaf Of Bread'

NEW YORK, June 1. — There wasn't a dry eye in our house the winter grandma read "Les Miserables" aloud and we heard how Jean Valjean spent nineteen years in prison for stealing a loaf of bread to feed his sister's hungry kids.

I wept buckets over Jean's hard fate. But I was young then, and the conviction has been growing on me ever since that Jean was a jerk who got what he asked for.

Anyone who has grown to maturity in my time, or gotten his peeper's open in the last twenty-five years, knows that if Jean Valjean had backed the truck up to the front door and carted away everything loose, he would probably gotten off with a slap on the wrist and a warning not to repeat his offense at the same address.

How can you have any respect for a crum-bum who steals a loaf of bread? And leaves the diamonds, the stocks, bonds and cash in the bureau drawer?

Can't Trust Him

You can't trust a man like that. No telling what he'll do in the pinch. A guy like that ain't normal, making off with a loaf of bread when the sables and the silver are in the next room. He needs a psychiatrist.

But not a fella like Joe Adonis. This Adonis doesn't need any psychiatrist; all he needs is an accountant and a couple of strong-armed aides de camp to help shovel it into the bank.

You don't see this Joe Adonis doing a nineteen year stretch in the cooler! "Underworld Czar," they call Joe, and a lot of things you can't print in a family newspaper. "Boss Racketeer," is another term for him, and likewise "Super Hoodlum."

Joe always operates big: Yoku nail it down or Joe lugs it off. Him steal a loaf of bread? Don't make Joe laugh! He hasn't pinched a loaf since he high-jacked his first load of prohibition booze when he started working his way up in the rackets.

Nothing Small About Joe

There's nothing small about Joe: Chairman of the Board of Murder, Inc., a big Brooklyn outfit that was, in its time. And Joe was a power in Brooklyn politics, too. And the Kefauver committee found that Joe and Frank Costello pretty well control and direct the New York-Miami racket axis, as it exists today.

Until a few days ago, Joe lived in a $100,000 home at Fort Lee, N.J., on the other side of the Hudson, a river always handy for hiding unpopular gents trussed-up in concrete blocks.

At the end of 25-year in business, Joe could live like a king, with a million tucked here, and a million tucked there, and with enough in the poke so that he needn't take off his hat to Fort Knox.

So when Joe was sentenced to prison the other day, did the court throw the book at him? At Joe? Ha!. Who do you think Adonis is, some poor dope named Jean Valjean?

Drew Short Sentence

Adonis, who could have been sentenced to eighteen years in prison, drew a two to three year sentence in the superior court of Bergen County, N.J., for violation of the state's gambling laws. And at that the judge sentenced him to a cruel six months longer than the attorney general asked for.

The state's A.G. suggested Joe serve a minimum term of eighteen rather than 24 months. As it is Adonis, will be in durance vile for all of 20 months, at most, for having carted away everything he has been able to pry loose, including a good bit of the civic honor, decency and self-respect of New York, New Jersey and the United States.

Last week, when it was announced that Adonis would plead non vult, or no defense, rather than stand trial, the report was widely circulated that the fix was in for Joe. That he had made a shrewd bargain with the law. And that he would walk away with a light sentence.

Ever so often, some citizen goes to jail for contempt of court. But does it never occur to the courts that they are sometimes a mite to blame?

Oh, there's a moral all right to this tale of Joe Adonis and Jean Valjean: Never steal a loaf of bread!

To Observe Feast At New Kindergarten

The enthronement of the Sacred Heart in the new St. Vitus school will take place on the Feast of the Sacred Heart Friday, June 1. Kindergarten children and their parents will take part in the blessing of the two new statues, the Sacred Heart of Jesus and the Immaculate Heart of Mary. Rev. Nicholas DeMita, pastor, will officiate.

The school mothers will act as godmothers for the individual classrooms as the act of consecration of the Sacret Heart is read by a mother and the blessing is given by Rev. Fr. Inteso.

This is the first step toward the objectives which the Sisters—Missionary Zelatrices of the Sacred Heart—have in propagating and spreading devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

Chicago White Sox Will Try To Make It 15 Straight Wins Tonight

Will Meet Philadelphia A's, Yankees Will Battle Tigers

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 1.—Tonight there will be full-scale activity in both leagues with the sockers from Chicago and Boston in the junior circuit spotlight.

The pace-setting White Sox, two games to the good, try to make it 15 in a row at the expense of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Bosox, a not-so-hot road team, open their second western invasion with a ten-game winning streak on the line against the St. Louis Browns.

Yanks In Detroit

New York's second-place Yankees, losers of four straight, open in Detroit against the Tigers, losers of five in a row.

The other American league game finds the Cleveland Indians playing the Washington Senators.

In the National league, Cincinnati is at Brooklyn, St. Louis is at Philadelphia, Chicago is at Boston and Pittsburgh is at New York for night contests.

Dodgers Top Phils

Meyer, a pitcher known to be far from cool-tempered, was on the ropes more times than Joey Maxim last night before he lost, 4 to 3, to the Dodgers. But what got his goat was the way the Brooks managed to score what proved to be the winning run in the eighth inning.

The victory raised the Dodgers' National league lead to two full games over the idle St. Louis Cardinals. It was the only scheduled major league game.

Wayne Griffith To Announce Bouts

Wayne Griffith, popular announcer of televised wrestling, will act as announcer of the Prof. Roy Shires vs. Jackie Nichols match at Flaherty field, June 15 night, according to the Jefferson Athletic club. Arrangements for Griffith's appearance was completed yesterday.

He announces all Rainbow Garden, Chicago, matches, and globetrots to various cities to officiate in that capacity. His style is inimitable and in addition he is a very personable gentleman who makes a hit with the public.

In addition to the Nichols-Shires match, Bobby Ford, Youngstown's bid for wrestling honors, will take on Ruffy Silverstein. All four are decidedly popular in Chicago where they have wrestled many times.

However, a feature of the Evening's Evnin', will be the tag match between Nell Stewart and Mae Weston against Sheba Zenni and Adele Antone. Nell appeared here previously, but it will be a debut for the other three girls. They're equally as tough as the men.

Detroit has become a major boxing city under the IBC for a similar reason. Norris and Wirtz own the motor city's Olympia arena.

Four Straight For Tribe, End Series Tonight

Kowalski, Magula Also Hit Homers

Rudy York, the former Detroit Tiger and Red Sox slugger, blasted two more homers over the centerfield wall at Flaherty Field last night but still the Indians trimmed his Oil City Athletics 9-6.

York has been terrific in the current series between the Athletics and Indians, banging five home runs in two days to raise his total to 12 and the league leadership in the round-tripper department.

Series Ends Tonight

The current four-game series between the Indians and Oil City will be ended here tonight. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Young 18-year-old Lee Bickel essayed a fireman role last night as he went to the rescue of the veteran Stan Zedalis in the fifth inning with Oil City leading 5 to 2 and got credit for the win, giving him a (2-2) record for the season. Bickel, the Warren, O., boy, gave up but three hits and one run over the final four innings.

The Indians, trailing 5 to 3 in the sixth, went to work and batted in four runs on five straight hits after two were out—Bilo doubling, Green doubling, Kowalski singling, Magula homering and Frisina singling.

Kowalski-Magula Hit Homers

The veterans, Walt Kowalski and Steve Magula, hit homers for the Indians last night—Kowalski his fourth of the year in the eighth inning and Magula his third in the big sixth inning rally with Kowalski aboard. Kowalski had a single, double and homer to lead the Indians in swatting. Bill Green had a pair of doubles.

Joey Frisina and Bill Green, despite a bobble or two, played sensational ball in the field for the Indians, Green accepting six chances and Frisina seven chances. Frisina was on the front end of two lightning fast double plays with Green and Magula after scooping up hard hit liners.

Free Night Tuesday

The Indians will be away the next three days opening a series at Butler Saturday and returning home Tuesday to meet the Niagara Falls Citizens in a four-game series, instead of Erie, a mistake in the reading of the schedule in last night's paper. Erie will be here for four games starting June 20.

President Al Scarazzo announced today that next Tuesday, June 5, will be Free Night at the ball park. The fans will be admitted free of charge. This is an effort to acquaint the fans with the Indians. It's strictly on the "house" next Tuseday.

Canes Complete Successful Track And Field Campaign

With the completion of the state finals at State College last Saturday and the Pentathlon meet at Pittsburgh Tuesday evening the New Castle high school track squad has completed its work for the year.

The 1951 season was rather successful in most cases, with some very fine team and individual marks posted.

As a team the Red Hurricanes finished sixth out of 25 in the annual WPIAL relays, decisively copped a three-way meet at Ambridge, won the annual tri-county six-team meet, finished second to Ambridge in the WPIAL regional meet, defeated Meadville in a dual meet and finished 11th out of 36 in the WPIAL meet.

Individually, Bill Boak, Wilbur Foht, Jack Fassinger and Chuck Sampson stood out, though other high point men were Ronald Bailey, Dick Rapson, Bill Frengel, Merle Reed, Joe Lane, Steve Belancin, Bill Buckner, Ray Fabian, John Sansone, Wayne Florida, John Brinton, Eddie Lewis, Walter Polansky, Guy Amodie, Emmett Bowers, Walter Yanul, Bill Broaddus, Dave Lewis, Joe Pecarro, Dick Klingensmith and others.

Nine Firsts

Bill Boak, a junior, took nine firsts during the season—five in the shot put and four in the 120-yard high hurdles. He took first in the regional meet in both of these events, but failed to qualify for the state finals.

Besides these firsts he took two thirds and a second in the low hurdles and finished sixth in the annual pentathlon meet at the Schenley bowl earlier this week.

Wilbur Foht, also a junior, broke Scooter Day's 26-year-old pole vault record with a vault of 11 ft. 6 in. in the WPIAL meet, to tie for the WPIAL pole vault championship and qualify for the state meet.

He took first in every meet in the pole vault, but failed to place in the state finals.

Jack Fassinger broke Al Ttate's discus record when he threw the discus 131 ft. 6 in. in the WPIAL meet, to finish second and also qualify for the state meet.

Jack took first in this event three times during the season, having his best heaves in the WPIAL relays and the state meet, though he did not place at the state meet.

Sophomore Star

Sampson, a sophomore, developed into a fine half-miler and posted marks of 2:06.7 against Meadville and in the WPIAL meet at Canonsburg in his last two times out.

He captured the mile in the intra-class meet and three firsts and a second in the regional meet during the season. Head coach Bill Klee rates Chuck as one of the finest prospects in the distance events in the district.

Best dash men were Guy Amodie and Ray Fabian, though neither posted outstanding marks. Ronald Bailey was best in the 440 and Dick Rapson and Bill Frengel in the mile. Rapson ruled the milers most of the season, but Frengel posted a very fine 4:53 in the final meet of the season for the best time.

Boak was best in both the high and low hurdles, with his closest competitor Bill Buckner in the lows. Merle Reed, John Brinton and Joe Lane all gathered a lot of points in the high jump, while Ray Fabian, Merle Reed and John Sansone paced the broad jumpers and Sansone and Belancin the javelin.

Dewitt Denies Sale Of Browns

Veeck Says That 'I'm Not Interested'

ST. LOUIS, June 1.—(INS)—William O. Dewitt, president of the St. Louis Browns, denied today a new report that the club has been sold.

Dewitt, commenting on a story in a New York newspaper, said:

"There is nothing to it."

The story asserted that the Browns had been sold to a syndicate headed by Bill Veeck, former owner of the Cleveland Indians.

Veeck also said he knew nothing about the report.

Reached in Chicago, where he stopped enroute to Tucson, Ariz., Veeck said "buying the Browns would be a pretty tough proposition."

He did not elaborate but added: "I am not interested."

THIS RECIPE WORKS

Take a hot day—the hotter the better—add one sizzling citizen—you for example—to both add one refrigerator—and to the refrigerator add a shelf full of Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Soda, Seven-Up, Hires Root Beer—or any of the many Castle Distributing flavors.

Open the refrigerator door carefully—extract one cool bottle—take the cap off and pour—first into a glass then into yourself.

The heat becomes pleasant, your parched throat yells hooray, and you feel good all over. This recipe is sure fire. Try it these hot days.

P. S. If the refrigerator isn't full of our beverages, call 666 and we'll be calling on you pronto.

Will Make Detailed Survey Of State's Tourist Business

By AL SPIVAK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, June 1.—Pennsylvania's multi-million dollar tourist business is in for a detailed dollars-and-cents study this year.

The object is to learn as much as possible about how much money tourists spend in the commonwealth.

Roadside interviewing stations are planned for strategic spots along each of the state's borders and in the Philadelphia area, according to state highway planning survey chief H. G. Van Riper.

"The State Commerce Department asked for the survey," he said, "to make a close estimate of what it means in dollars and cents to attract tourists to Pennsylvania."

Out-of-state motorists will be asked whether their trip is for business or pleasure, he said.

They will be asked what type of overnight lodgings they are using, he said, the purpose of their travel, and the amount of money they anticipate spending in Pennsylvania.

"This type of survey was conducted in Virginia last year," said Van Riper, "and in the Smokey Mountain area before that."

One Of Three Surveys

He said the traffic study is one of three highway department is carrying out this year. Another will determine the traffic flow on roads that will be affected by the future opening of the western extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike from Irwin to the Ohio border. The third will extend the state's municipal traffic survey to eight additional localities in a long-range program to touch every urban community in the commonwealth.

Tourist business in Pennsylvania last year was estimated at 700 million dollars.

Indications that even more money will be brought into the state this year were reported by J. Herbert Walker, director of the Tourist and Recreational Bureau in the Commerce Department.

The estimates up to now, however have been guesswork, he said.

The contemplated survey, he noted, could set up a factual basis by which the amounts could be judged.

Knowledge of the number of tourists entering the state and how much they spend could aid in planning, he said, and would underline the value of resorts and other recreational attractions of the commonwealth.

Resorts receive the bulk of the vacation money spent in the state, according to the department. Out-of-staters also are attracted to historical areas of the commonwealth.

The amount of money spent by tourists has registered a steady climb in each year's estimates.

It went from $550,000,000 in 1948 to $600,000,000 in 1949 to $700,000,000 in 1950, according to Commerce Department tabulations.

Reports by hotels, inns and other establishments catering to vacationists have formed the basis of these estimates but the department felt additional checks were needed for a rounded picture.
